Where's Mike?

What has the CIA done with Michael Goleniewski, the Polish national who was working for the KGB in Poland and defected to the United States? And why hasn't his information been brought out in the newspapers?

Perhaps this information has been kept from the public because Goleniewski knew too much about the State Department and the CIA, both of which he has stated are infiltrated by communists . . . and because the present Administration might fear that such information, if made public, would hurt them in an election year.
